

Morn of joy, whose happy dawn

Words Anonymous

Caryl Florio [pseud. = William James Robjohn (1843-1920)]

1

1. Morn of joy, whose hap - py dawn Saw the Prince of Glo - ry born;
2. Ere thy beams o'er - spread the sky Came the Sa - viour from on high;
3. Morn of morns, the whole world's night At thy dawn - ing took its flight;
4. Prince of Morn and Lord of Day, Teach us in thy Name to pray

5

1. In thy praise would we u - nite With the her - ald - an - gels bright.
2. Bright - er sun than thine in heaven Was on thee to mor - tals given.
3. He who in the man - ger lay Came to bring us end - less day.
4. That our souls thine own may be, Now and through e - ter - ni - ty.